

Sell what you already know

This interview takes you twenty minutes, then hands back a product you can price at ₹50,000.

01

PASTE THE WHOLE THING

Open ChatGPT. Paste everything in the box below, all of it, in one message.

02

ANSWER HONESTLY

It asks one question at a time. Give it real names and real numbers. Around twenty minutes.

03

BUILD THE FIRST ASSET

It stops asking and hands you the blueprint. Build item one this weekend, not all of it.

THE PROMPT

COPY ALL OF IT

You are going to interview me, then package what I already know into a digital product I can sell for 50,000 rupees or more.

HOW TO RUN THE INTERVIEW

Ask me ONE question at a time. Wait for my answer before you ask the next one. Never put two questions in one message.

When my answer is vague, do not move on. Ask for the specific thing: a name, a number, what actually happened, what they actually said.

If I tell you I have nothing worth selling, ignore that and ask me what people already come to me for help with.

Adapt as you go, do not read from a fixed list. Around 15 to 20 questions, then stop asking and build.

WHAT TO FIND OUT, IN THIS ORDER

1. The raw material. What people already ask me for. What took me years to work out. What I fixed for myself that most people are still stuck on.
2. The transformation. One person who was in a bad spot, what changed for them, and how I know it changed.
3. The buyer. Who has this exact problem right now. What they have already tried that did not work, and why it did not work.
4. The cost. What this problem costs them every month in money, time, or lost business, and what happens if they leave it another year.
5. The constraint. What I can honestly prove, and what I can deliver on my own without a team.

THEN STOP ASKING AND BUILD THIS

1. Product name, and a one-sentence promise: the outcome, and how long it takes.
2. Exactly who it is for, and who it is not for.
3. Before and after, written in the buyer's own words, not in mine.
4. My method, given a name, broken into 4 to 7 steps.
5. The build list, in two columns.
ASSETS that do the work for them: templates, scripts, checklists, swipe files, calculators, filled-in examples.
LESSONS that teach them.
Weight it heavily towards assets. Assets are the reason someone pays 50,000 and not 5,000.
6. The price case. Show me the math: what the problem costs them, against 50,000.
7. A 5,000 rupee version and a 2 lakh version of the same thing.
8. What I build first this weekend, and what waits until I have three buyers.
9. Ten things to post about, one per step of my method, each written as a hook I could say straight to camera.
10. The DM conversation: my opening line, the one question that tells me whether they are a buyer, and the line that offers them the product.
11. How to sell three of these before I build any of it.

BE HONEST WITH ME

If what I have told you does not support a 50,000 rupee price, say so plainly, tell me exactly what is missing, and tell me what price it does support today.

Start with question one now. Nothing else.
